SWIFT STAKES FOR OISEAU.

DIAMOND JIM BRADY'S COLT WINS EASILY IN THE MUD.

Gallavant Takes Zephyr Stakes - A Pincky Win for August Belmont's Blandy -Frank Farrell's Keator a Cinch-Arian Successful in Jumping Event.

Diamond Jim Brady's Oiseau, an added starter, won the Swift Stakes, for three-yearolds, seven furlongs. Futurity course, at Sheepshead Bay yesterday. The Ornus colt showed the way to a small field over a muddy track and experienced no trouble in winning by a length and a half in 1:26, a clever performance. Oiseau received eight pofrom Pasadena, 20 to 1, who closed resolutely in the last furlong and nipped the place from Dandelion, second choice, by a head. Sparkling Star was only a nose out of the money. A queer ride by Lyne had something to do with the defeat of E. E. Smathers's Security, a half brother to Dick Welles and Ort Wells, tho was coupled favorite with High Chance in the Zephyr Stakes, for two-year-olds, five and a half furlongs, Futurity course. Lyne and a half furlongs, Futurity course. Lyne had the colt all over the track after he had gotten off in front, so that he soon lost his advantage and R. T. Wilson, Jr.'s, Gallavant, backed down to 4 to 1, came home the winner in a drive by a length and a half in 108. H. J. Morris's Vagabond, a 50 to 1, shot, beat Security a head for the place. High Chance was half a length behind.

August Relmont's Blandy won a game race in the handicap at a mile. He went up in the betting to 11 to 5 simply because the sharps did not believe he could give eleven pounds and a beating to Wotan, who was backed down to 10 to 3 doe Yeager's Leonidas, played for a killing, raced out with Wotan at the start, while Blandy at the half mile pole was many lengths back. At the head of the stretch the two pacemakers began to tire, and Blandy. many lengths back. At the head of the swetch the two pacemakers began to tire, and Blandy, covered with mud and under the whip, overhauled them with every stride. In the last fifteen yards Leonidas stumbled, which probably prevented him from winning, so that Blandy got the verdict by a nose, with Leonidas beating Wotan a head. The mile was run Blandy got the verdict by a flose, with broad das bearing Wotan a head. The mile was run in 1413-5.

Frank Farrell's fast sprinter, Keator, who was backed off the boards, from 7 to 5 down to 7 to 10, won the first race, at 5 a and a half furlongs, in spreadcagle style. He left the others at the post, so to speak, and just gallored over the course in 1194-5, having five lengths to spare at the end. Whorler, 20 to 1, beat Confession, 8 to 1, by five lengths for the place.

The Introductory Steeplechase, over the short course, was easy for J. W. Colt's Arian, 5 to 2 favorite, who was neatly ridden by Jimmy Mara. Arian galloped home a winner by five lengths in 4.10. Bonfile, 7 to 1, who made most of the pace, ran second, six lengths in front of Mr. Cotton's Game Cock, who was coupled with Alamansor at 7 to 2.

E. R. Thomas's colors were carried to victory in the last race, a mile and a furlong on turf, by Onatas, an 8 to 1 shot, who got up in time to beat Jerry Lynch, 8 to 1, by a neck. Father Bill Daiy's Sailor Boy, a 100 to 1 shot, was third, with the two choices, Ismailian and Buttons, nowhere. The time was 154. The usual crowd of 12,600 persons was on hand, and three favorites won. The summaries:

CRITICIZE VESPERS. American Crew Does Not Create a Good Impression at Henley.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN HENLEY-ON-THAMES, June 20.—Since the arrival of the Vespers, the Philadelphia crew that is to try for the Grand Challenge cup next month, the wind has been blowing strongly down the course, which has been against the Americans. They have not created a very good impression, as they are considered short in the water and their blades are uneven.

TO-DAY'S CARD FOR SHEEPSHEAD. Mermaid Stakes and a Handleap the Attractions.

It looks as if Sydney Paget has a mortgage on the Mermaid Stakes, for three-year-old fillies, nine furlongs, to be run at the Bay this afternoon, as he is represented by Tradition and Zeala, with Coy Maid the only other entry. Lady Amelia has top weight in the handicap for mares, at six furlongs, meeting Graceful, Bohemia, Kiamesha, Diamond Flush and others. Maiden two-year-olds will run in the first race, at five furlongs, with Evelyn Griffin, Flavigny and Calabogue having chances in a large field.

Yankee Consul will be heavily backed to the third race, for two-year-olds, five and a half furlongs, but will run up against and a half furlongs, but will run up against Last Cherry, Old Faithful, Confederate Whimisical, Astronomer and Merry Boy, all good youngsters. In the fifth race, at a mile, Workman, Jocund, Ocean Tide and Uncle Urigh seem the best, while in the last race, at a mile and a half on the turf, Possession, The Southerner and Bronze Wing may do. In the Fincke-Stevens contest, the veteran baseline player showed up finely at the start, taking the opening set 6-2. Fincke was unable to return the hard baseline shots; Stevens, from the back court, driving the ball to the far corners. On the second set Fincke showed big improvement, his strong net game scoring repeatedly on clever placing. Stevens stuck to the baseline and was unable to make headway. In all Stevens took but three games on this set. On the playoff the points were even, both men struggling hard for the deciding games. After deuce had been reached twice, a sharp, rally gave Fincke the two necessary games for the set.

The other mutch also proved a close struggle, going the full three sets before Wrenn's steadier play captured the necessary points. Forbes made a plucky stand, but was a bit ouclasse i. He managei to take the opening set by a narrow margin, but lost the next two on Wrenn's aggressive drives.

Dave Johnson dropped $1,500 on Dandelion a place. Charley Cash played Prince Hamburg to show.
The clubhouse also went to Arian for another big commission in the steeplechase, the agents getting about $8,000 down. Coleman, Ike Thompson, Lewisohn and Soil Lichtenstein all cashed on this winner, who actually closed at 8 to 5. Fred Johnson had $500 a place and $500 third on Ponfire. E. R. Thomas's money did not show in the ring on Onatas, who won the last race at 8 to 1. Joe Guthorn won a nice bet on this horse, but the talent gots hard knock through the defeat of Ismailian and Buttons.

Silas Veitch came within an ace of being killed in the steeplechase. He had the mount on Candling, who fell at the last immp. Veitch was nitched out of the saddle so nuckly that he had no chance to break the tall and landed scuarely on his head. He rolled over unconscious, and the spectators, believing that his nock had been broken, turned away. But in a few moments Veitch regained his senses and was helped off the field, suffering from many bruises and a severe shaking up. Several horses jumped over him but he was not tou ched.

Alamansor, who fell in this race, covered the full course, taking the jumps neatly, and after finishing with the others trotted back to the judges' stand. Then he stood still until a stable man led him away. It was a remarkable exhibition of horse sense.

A report was received at the track that the well known plunger, Steve L'Hommedieu, who cannot operate in the East because of a jockey club edict, has lost $100,000 recently, and is at Latonia, practically broke.

John E. Madden was not at the track and the official notice was posted that his horses would be saddled by C. T. Patterson.

SYRACUSE MEN ON THE HUDSON Compare Favorably With Last Year's Winning Crews-Practise of the Eights. FRIENDS SAY METS LEADER POUGHKEEPSIE, June 20 .- The sunburned and seasoned giants from Syracuse, which university has the prestige of a double victory last season to buoy the hopes of the Rumor That He Has Been Disciplined oarsmen who this year flaunt the Salt City banner, arrived here to-day. Before noon the crews were on the river, making their appearance just as the Quaker and Cornell deets were finishing practise. George Wheelock, the president of the Coaches Courtney and Ward, in their re-Metropolitan Turf Association, who has been spective launches, ran over and had a look one of the ringleaders in the troubles between at the Syracuse boys, who paddled down the the bookinakers' organization and the race-track owners, was not at the Sheepshead river for a mile and a half and returned to boathouse. This evening the Syracuse Bay track yesterday, and his brother William, who came to the track early with his oarsmen were worked out on stretches for crew, did not make book. All sorts of rumors were quickly in circulation. Wheelock's week will exist on a purely aquatic diet.

The Syracuse carsmen are a brawny combination, with plenty of stature to back their broad shoulders. They average 5 feet 11% inches and are of the type made familiar by the visits of the Badgers to the East. Coach Ten Eyck looked happy when asked to make comparisons between his present combination and last year's champions. He contented himself, however, with the observation that he believed the Syracuse boys would give a good account of themselves. It is the opinion in the Syracuse camp that the crews are better than last year's.

In addition to the varsity and freshman eights Syracuse has this year a varsity four and will be represented in all the races.
The Cornell eights indulged in some lively brushes this evening. Both crews showed excellent form and the four car trailed along steadily in their wake.
Coach Ward sent the Quaker eights up the river and on the return brought them down the east side, and from the bridge to the finish mark, a distance of a mile, put the senior carsmen through their paces in race day style. The stroke was hit up to thirty-eight, but the men pulled it out well, kept the shell on an even keel and splashed very little, although the water was not smooth. They made a hard finish and were pulling well together when Ward blew the launch whistle to stop.
Coach Coodwin gave the Columbia boys a be rested out and for the remainder of the week will exist on a purely aquatic diet. friends said that he was seriously ill, suffering from a nervous breakdown due to overwork and worry, and that he would soon go away for a long trip in search of rest. Varlous members of the Mets when asked about the matter, said that Wheelock had done nothing in his negotiations with the track owners that warranted the report that he had been disciplined, while J. H. Bradford, one of the Jockey Club stewards, stated with emphasis that Wheelock had not been told to quit. Mr. Bradford was much exercised over a story that Wheelock had been penalized for the part he played in the bookmakers' strike on Suburban Day, when the Mets defled the Coney Island Jockey Club by pushing in four of their members among the front liners, contrary to the rules laid down for the government of the betting ring. TRIALS AT NEW LONDON. Yale Rows Four Miles in 20 Minutes 45

Seconds. NEW LONDON, June 20 .- Stop watches were in evidence about Yale's and Harvard's training quarters this afternoon when the crews started out to row four miles down stream. Yale's varsity eight went the entire distance without mishap, but the Crimson crew stopped at the three and one-half mile flag owing to the wash from a tugboat that was steaming up the course. will give out Yale's time correctly,

"If that is Harvard's correct time, then we rowed a few seconds faster. The nearest to our time is this we tried to beat our former record, 20 minutes 41 seconds, but were not successful." Yale's time was caught on shore at 20 minutes 45 seconds, which corresponds with Whittier's statement. Yale's freshmen paced the varsity boat for two miles, and Harvard caught the time at 10 minutes 27 seconds from the steamer as the Elis passed the naval station. The freshmen assert they held the big crew for a mile and were beaten at the second mile by only half a boat length. Both eights rowed at a 32 gait.

Harvard started at 4:24 o'clock, and Yale followed half an hour later. The tide was mining out, but the wind was variable and not very favorable. Harvard's varisty four rowed the two miles on time about noon in it minutes 40 seconds, and Yale's four had their trial this afternoon, beating the Crimson crew's time by 15 seconds, with better conditions.

President Roosevelt is expected to pass Red Top and Broadview on his way to Worcester about 7 o'clock in the morning, and all the oarsmen will be at the station to cheer him as he passes through the quiet village, The Harvard men have sent an invitation to the President to stop and have breakfast at their camp.

Time was when college teams accepted every decision of the umpire without a murmur. That was real sportsmanship. The Columbia team went so far last Saturday as to forfeit a game because of a decision.

Bobby Lowe did some star fielding in his old stamping ground, Boston, in the Boston-Detroit games last Saturday. Drives that looked like hits were meat for him, and he gathered in ten fles in the two games.

A secthing kick arose in Boston last Saturday over whether Dick Cooley scooped a fly ball or not. In these advanced days of the pad, the indicator and the mask, the umptre might add field glasses to his stock of accessories.

All things considered, the Harvard-Vale series will come pretty near deciding which is the best college ball team of the East. And if Jackson pitches as well as he did against Princeton last Saturday the mighty Coburn will have no walk-over.

Dicky Cooley, Charlie Hickman, Robby Lowe, Sammy Crawford, Willie Coughlin and other Detroit footlight favorites rolled the New York Americans in the dust yesterday. They did not do it in nine innings though. Whatever shadowy satisfaction there is in making a team play ten innings to beat them belongs to the New Yorks. Once again the New Yorks had a lead and could not hold it. It was the second time within two days that they could not do what their opponents were able to do, catch up after being behind. Orth and Kitson pitched with degrees of effectiveness that bore one to the other strong points of resemblance. Each was stung for eleven assorted bingles, and once in the checkered career of each four hits were bunched by the other side. The Detroits chose a better time for their bunching. They got to Orth for four larrups and three runs in the tenth inning, a stage of the game when runs were doubly valuable. The locals bunched their hits in the second inning and thereafter were bunchless.

a stage of the game when runs were doubly valuable. The locals bunched their hits in the second inning and thereafter were bunchless.

Bill Coughlin did a lot toward beating the New Yorks, once with a great stop and once with a timely hit in the tenth. Williams, with a sharp single, blazed the way to New York's pair of runs in the second inning. He advanced on Chase's out at first and went to third on Yeager's single. He came in when he and Fultz, with conjoint skill, engineered the squeeze play, Fultz bunting as Williams came for the plate. Kleinow forced Fultz, but O'Leary in attempting to complete a double play threw badly, and Yeager scored. A base on balls to Coughlin, Schaefer's bunt, a fielder's choice and Drill's double gave the Detroits two runs in the fourth. Then Orth squirmed out of a hole cleverly. There were still two or bases and nobody out, but Kitson fanned, O'Leary hit a short fly to Keeier, and Cooley was pinched at first base, Orth to Chase.

The New Yorks were up against it in the sixth. With Williams out, Chase drew four balls. The hit and run game put him on third and Yeager on first. Fultz cut loose with a terrific liner, which was knocked down by Coughlin, a remarkable stop. Coughlin threw to the plate to head off Chase, and although the latter, who is very fast, looked to be on the plate before touched with the ball, Connolly selled him out. Kleinow was safe at first on a decision that looked to be as bad as the one at the plate. This filled the bases, but Orth emptied them by striking out. Hickman's triple, which Fultz by fine fielding kept from being a hone run; a base on balls given with malice aforethought to Crawford, Coughlin's smash to left, an infield hit by Lowe and Drill's drive brought three men to the plate in the tenth. The New Yorks pushed a man home in the same inning on Keeler's third single and Williams/s ripper to left for three bases. The score:

NEW TORK (N. L.), S. CINCINNATI, 3.

CINCINNATI, June 20.—The New Yorks outplayed the locals to-day, rubbing in defeat on the Reds, who had a record of eight straight victories. Ames was ever a mystery to the Reds, and the visitors were never in danger, and had no trouble in scoring runs off Jack Harper. The New Yorks illed the bases at the very start. With one down, Donlin singled, Hungins let go of McGalin's line hit and Mertes drew a pass. With this condition facing him, Dahlen stepped up and brought in all hands by larruping the ball past Kelly for two bases. In the third Bridwell walked, Browne muffed Phelpa's liner, but retired Bridwell at second to Dahlett, Harper singled, The hit got past Browne, and Phelpa scored.

Donlin drove in Bowerman and Ames in the fourth. The former had walked and the latter had singled just previously. The centerfield fence resounded under the force of Mertes's long triple in the fifth. He scored on an out, and Devlin, who was hit, also scored by virtue of a stolen base and a clever execution of the squeeze play by Bowerman. In the ninth Bowerman biffed the sphere to the outskirts of Seymour's pastures for a home run. A triple and an out put Huggins over in the sixth, and a brace of singles and

I also manufacture Clear Havana Cigars right here in Philadelphia by genuine Cuban process and workmanship. I have not heretofore advertised them, for my customers have taken all that I could make; but in my new factory I can increase the output. I employ only the best known methods in the manufacture of exceptionally fine Clear Havana Cigars. The manufacture of Clear Havana Cigars is not a matter to be lightly undertaken. with the idea that one can buy the tobacco, "soak it up." roll it into cigars-and they will be Clear Havanas. So they will; strong; rank butter is produced from sweet, rich milk.

With the growth of my business I am now able to offer fine Clear Havana Cigars to discriminating smokers and give the same value; by selling at wholesale prices direct from my factory to the smoker, as I have always given with Shivers' Panatelas. I call my Clear Havanas "El Rollinso." I sell all El Rollinso Cigars on the same offer as I have sold all my other cigara: with the guarantee that they are Cuban hand-made, with nothing but finest Havana tobacco. The cigar here shown is a full four and three-eighths inch Conchas Especial, and sells for $8.50 per hundred. I invite smokers who appreciate a fine Clear Havana Cigar to try 100 El Rollinso Conchas Especial upon this offer.

My Offer is: I will send, express prepaid, to a reader of "The Sun," 100 El Rollinso Conchas Especial upon request. He may smoke ten clgars, and if not pleased return the remaining ninety at my expense. If he keeps them, he agrees to remit the price, $8.50, within ten days. & El Rollinso

Every cigar is Cuban Conchas Especial AACT SIZE AND SHAPE hand-made. This extra skilled labor costs more, but it is worth the difference if the manufacturer expects to build and hold his business.

So confident am I that my Clear Havana El Rollinso Cigars cannot be surpassed, either in quality or workmanship, I am further willing to take the burden of proof upon myself and ask all smokers to compare this cigar with any other lear Havana Cigar, imported or domestic, of the same size and shape, no matter what the price. If after the severest test they do not appeal to the smoker as being equal to any other Clear Havana Cigar, I would prefer to have them returned.

This sounds like a big statement-and it is. I wouldn't think of making it if I were not mighty sure of my cigars. If they cannot stand the comparison, I want to know it as soon as possible. I ask for my cigars a chance to sell themselves, all the risk (if any) on my part. Why not try a hundred?

In ordering, please state whether strong, medium or mild cigars are preferred, and use business letter head or enclose business card. At least let me send you my book, "Con-
